WEB DEVELOPMENT AND DESIGN

I am a Junior-level IT professional with a strong academic background seeking a position as a Technical Writer.

- A quick and adept learner with a strong working knowledge of content creation, formatting, web design & development, database administration, programming, and networking.
- Committed to developing and formatting elegant user interfaces that raise the bar for utility and design. Please see my personal webpage at <http://mattboddy.github.io/>.
- Outstanding written communication skills. While work for LitmusBox I wrote and formatted several process flow documents and other support content for clients. I am actively engaged in creative writing for personal projects. I also served as Municipal Liason for National Novel Writing Month, also known as NaNoWriMo, the annual, internet-based novel writing program.
- A strong desire to learn new tools and techniques
- Function well independently or while collaborating with a team. Experienced in working with a variety of professionals over the full course of the creative process.
